

charnwood: cache-level and capacity measurement logic

`p = *(void )p`: each returned pointer supplies the next load address.

Spacing is a layout parameter; an observed timing step needs controls before a capacity claim.