

charnwood: cache-level and capacity measurement logic

$p = *(void )p$: each returned pointer supplies the next load address.
Spacing is a layout parameter; an observed timing step needs controls before a capacity claim.